Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a variable displacement pump for an internal combustion engine having an intake and exhaust valve for each cylinder, and to a controlling method thereof. 2. Description of the Prior Art In a variable displacement pump, such as a swash plate type pump, it is desired to control the displacement of the pump with accuracy and high responsiveness to load conditions and to meet the required output even in cases of low engine speed and low engine load. When the required output is large, the pump must be driven at a higher speed, and when the required output is small, the pump must be driven at a lower speed. Japanese Patent Laid-Open No. 61-249276 discloses a method for controlling the displacement of a pump wherein the supply of fuel is temporarily cut off to decrease the displacement of the pump, thereby enabling the pump to be driven at a low speed.
